SNOW QUALITY

In the afternoon small moist snow slides are possible. This applies in particular in case of very steep starting zones. Gliding avalanches can also occur at any time.

STABILITY OF THE SNOW MANTLE

New snow is lying on an icy crust. As a consequence of solar radiation the snowpack consolidated. Caution is to be exercised in areas with glide cracks. In steep terrain there is a danger of falling on the hard crust.

With the drop in temperatures and new snowfalls, although they are weak, the situation has changed slightly. On top of the old snow we find a thin layer of recent snow that, despite freezing, facilitates both the ascents and the descents, but we will have to continue to carry knives or crampons to climb the steeper slopes. The snow is still continuous on the northern slopes of the Ransol, Sorteny and Rialb valleys, although we will have to make some short approaches on foot.

The new snow on the surface, while newer, is also frozen and some wet snow flurries may break out on steeper south slopes in the afternoon. These purges can be more frequent in the afternoon, with the impact of precipitation. In general, we will find continuous snow above the Pla de l'Estany and the Comapedrosa refuge. The thickness of snow is the usual for this time of year, with numerous routes that can still be done with mountain skis between Andorra l'Ariège and Catalonia.

The accesses to the Valley from Montmalús continue to have good snow and with similar conditions everywhere. There is still snow on the southern slopes of Engait, Picos Negres d'Envalira and l'Illa which allow you to connect with El Madriu, Grau Roig and Pas de la Casa.
